

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A collapsing device for a carrier can collapse the frames of a stroller with only one hand. The collapsing device mainly comprises a first cover, a second cover, a button partially interposed between the first and the second cover, a safety lock and two pins. It is with only one hand that a user presses the safety lock and simultaneously pushes the button into the interior defined by the first and the second covers to make the pins cooperate the steel cables further releasing a latch mechanism equipped at the frames so that the collapsing operations can be easily accomplished.